i seek acquaintance with nature,—

to know her moods and manners. primitive nature is the most interesting to me. i take infinite pains to know all the phenomena of spring, for instance, thinking that i have here the entire poem, and then, to my chagrin, i learn that it is but an imperfect copy that i possess and have read, that my ancestors have torn out many of the first leaves and grandest passages, and mutilated it in many places. i should not like to think that some demigod had come before me and picked out some of the best stars. i wish to know an entire heaven and an entire earth.

I want to go soon and live away by the pond, where I shall hear only the wind whispering among the reeds. It will be success if I shall have left myself behind. But my friends ask what I will do when I get there. Will it not be employment enough to watch the progress of the seasons?

*if we see nature as pausing, immediately all mortifies and decays; but seen as progressing,
she is beautiful.*

every part of nature teaches that the passing away of one life is the making room for another. the oak dies down to the ground, leaving within its rind a rich virgin mould, which will impart a vigorous life to an infant forest.

*... The world has visibly been recreated in the night. Mornings of creation, I call them. In the midst of these marks of a creative energy recently active, while the sun is rising with more than usual splendor, I look back... for the era of this creation, not into the night,
but to a dawn for which no man ever rose early enough. A morning which carries us back beyond the Mosaic creation, where crystallizations are fresh and unmelted. It is the poet's hour.
Mornings when men are new born, men who have the seeds of life in them.*

we can never have enough of nature. we must be refreshed by the sight of inexhaustible vigor, vast and titanic features, the sea-coast with its wrecks, the wilderness with its living and its decayed trees, the thunder cloud, and the rain which lasts three weeks and produces freshets. we need to witness our own limits transgressed, and some life pasturing freely where we never wander.

Every day a new picture is painted and framed, held up for half an hour, in such lights as the Great Artist chooses, and then withdrawn and the curtain falls. And then the sun goes down, and long the afterglow gives light. And then the damask curtains glow along the western window. And now the first star is lit, and I go home.

Something new is happening

WMC's second annual folk rock concert was held in the PE Complex, June 2. The talented participants this year were the rock band "Rosewood," John Love, Rick Young, and John Grywusiewicz, Hal Amundson's bluegrass band, Leon Dillingham, Lorna Gabel and the Chorale. The concert was brought to Western through the joint efforts of Steve Abramavage and Lorna Gabel. It was dedicated to Professor Leon Dillingham, as this is his last year at WMC.

A Rural Artmobile, the brainchild of Mr. Don Walters, Head of the Art Department toured rural schools, serving the dual purpose of giving college art students experience in teaching art and enriching the rural schools' art programs. This outstanding and popular project received a $500 grant from the national American Association of University Women. The grant was awarded upon application of the local AAUW branch for assistance to a worthy educational project. Local AAUW members will assist the college staff and students in continuing this project next year.

This year the WMC Art Club acquired a new room for a student art gallery. Student works will be displayed in the gallery. This small, but interesting room is located on the second floor of Old Main.

WOMEN DOMINATE AT WESTERN

Women dominated their male counterparts at least twice this year. The first female-dominated activity was the annual "girl ask boy" Sadie Hawkins dance. Dr. Hunter portrayed "Marryin' Sam" and had a busy evening performing wedding ceremonies for all who were willing.

Kelly Flynn, Western track star, challenged these four girls to a 440 race. Kelly ran alone, while the girls ran in relay style. Kelly was defeated in this MCP contest and was awarded a pie in the face.

M. DAY

M-Day broke with tradition this year and, instead of being a surprise, was announced for April 20. Otherwise it was the same as usual, beginning with the campus clean-up.

Next on the M-Day agenda was the Saga picnic.

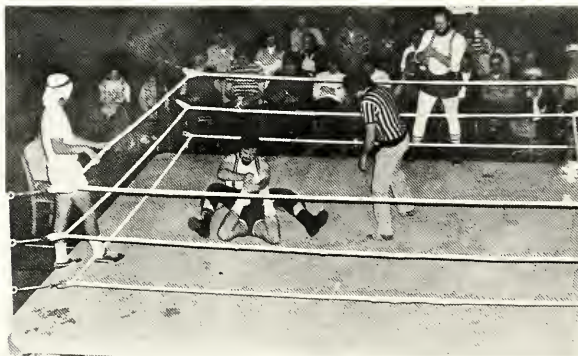

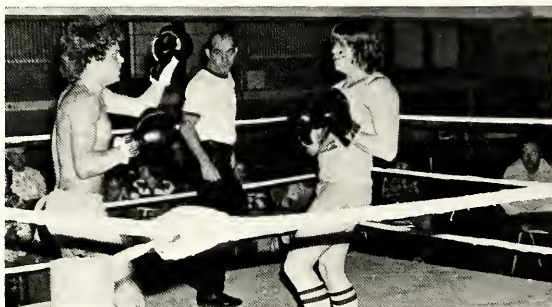

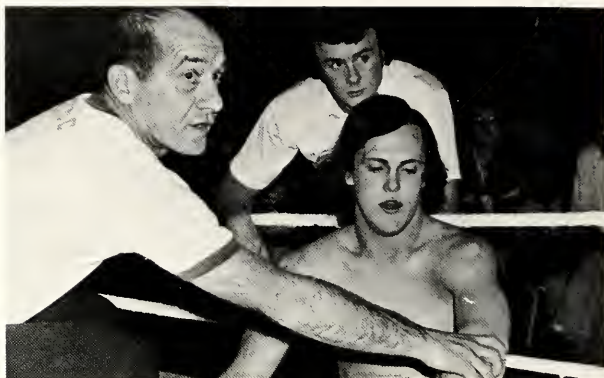

Then, of course, came the traditional kegger, held at the rest stop past Barrett's Rock.

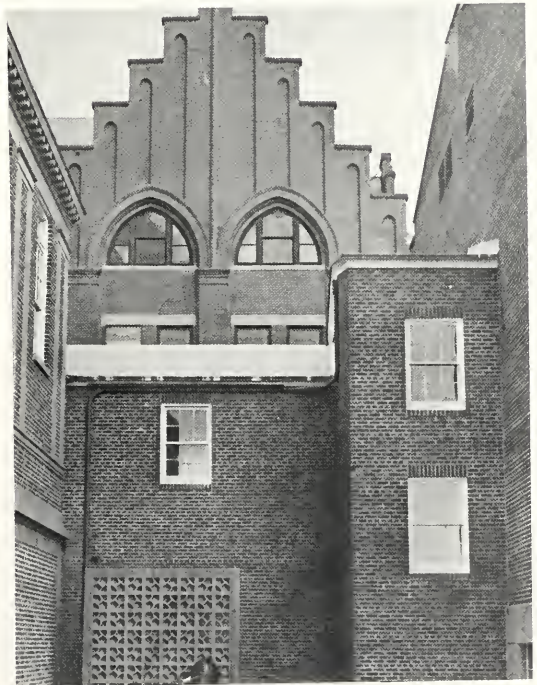

M-Day finally ended, for many, with a disco in the SUB.

M-CLUB SMOKER

Over 2400 years after its first production in the open air theater of Dionysus at Athens, AGAMEMNON was produced at WMC during fall quarter. The Greek tragedy was under the direction of Dr. Wallace Gober.

You Can Make It

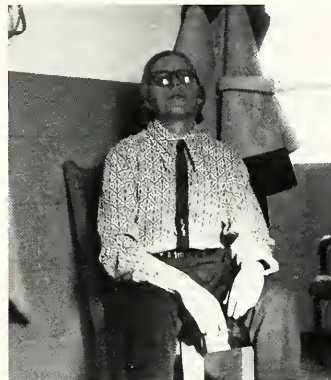

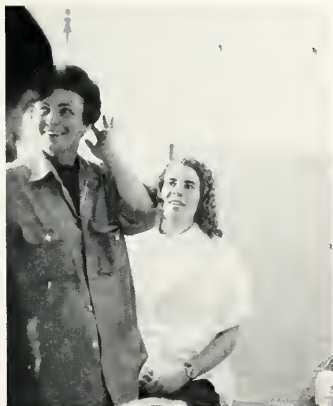

Spring is the time for the birth of things, and Western audiences were treated to the birth of a new musical during spring quarter. "You Can Make It."

Dialogue and lyrics were written by Betty Barnes, who directed the show. Dennis Widen composed the music and conducted the pit orchestra.

Behind the Scenes

Anyone can see a play production, but not everyone has a chance to see "behind the scenes." Here are a few glimpses, from make-up time in the rooms below the stage to the costume racks in the attic.

WOODSTICK

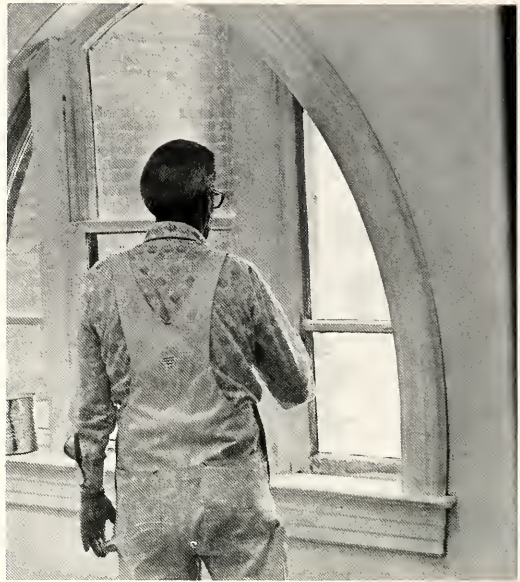

Woodstick, sponsored by WMC's Music Club, is an annual amateur talent night. It provides the students with a refreshing look at what talent lies in their midst. Solos, comedy routines, the Eaglettes, and a fiddler with his band highlighted the light and airy entertainment that was presented at Woodstick V. Woodstick is a fund-raising activity for a scholarship that will be offered to incoming freshmen to Western. Though the audience and the participants of Woodstick must pay, it all goes to a worthy cause. Thanks, Music Club.

And for culture, we had . . .

In past years Western students have witnessed excellent entertainment through Community Concerts and other artists.

The 1977 Community Concerts featured the Swedish Chamber Orchestra; the Richard Thomas Ballet; the Cosmopolitans; and Whittemore and Lowe, duo pianists.

Also on campus were a concert from U of M's Jazz Band, playing music from the Big Band Era; a U of M drama group in THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF BENVENUTO CELLINI, directed by David Dannenbaum; and a modern dance group from U of M in THE 5 WISDOMS.

College audiences are grateful to Central Board for supporting these activities.

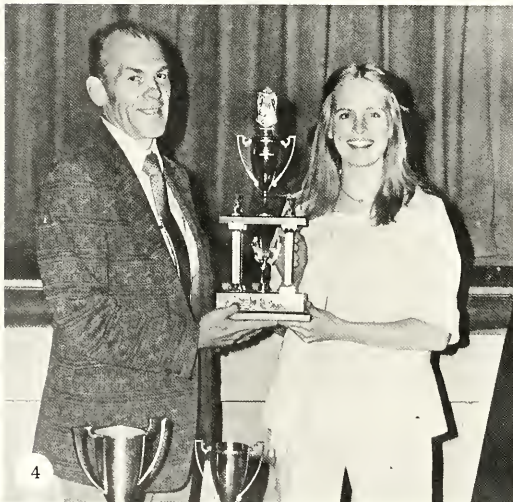

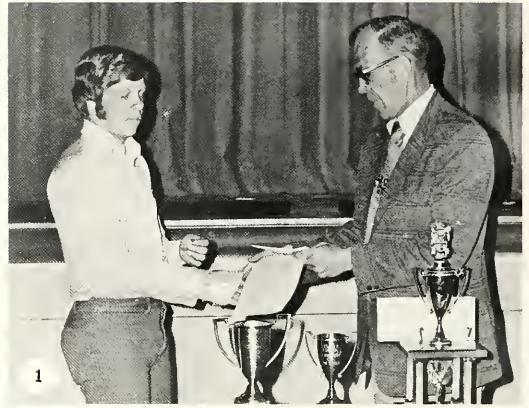

Festival of the Arts

Western's annual Festival of the Arts was held May 25th in the old gym. This year's festival included displays by student artists, demonstrations of various art techniques, booths by various clubs, and performances by Gargoyles, Chorale, and John Love and Rick Young. The day ended with a masquerade ball sponsored by the Gargoyles.

BULLDOG TRACKSTERS

We took it for "granite" there would be a picture of the men's track team here.

WMC's Bulldogs won the Frontier Conference Title in track. Led by Flynn and Flynn (no kin), the Bulldogs were 50 points ahead of their nearest competitor, Rocky Mountain College. Senior Kelly Flynn won the distance races, 880, mile and three-mile, while junior Bob Flynn was victorious in the sprint races, the 100 and 220. This is the third consecutive Conference championship for Coach Casey Keltz and the sixth title in the past seven seasons.
